Grade 4-7. These series titles feature beautiful full-color photographs and uncluttered, informative texts. Both define difficult terms and have two-page sections giving interesting facts about the professions. Veterinarian provides an overview of where vets work, including those who make housecalls or work at zoos, and interesting facts on holistic veterinary medicine. One double-page spread is devoted to famous veterinarians, and another to specialized vocabulary that includes terms like "hoof nipper." Astronaut introduces readers to the idea of a career in the space program with sections on space camps, training, and education. A section also discusses the Challenger Center Program founded by the families of the Challenger crew who died in the 1986 explosion. Attractive additions. --Denise Furgione, Atlantic County Library, Mays Landing, Copyright 1997 Reed Business Information, Inc. --This text refers to the Library Binding edition.

I bought this book because my 8 year old daughter wants to be a VET. She actually did enjoy the book but she also finished it in under 10 minutes. There is almost no text in the book it's mostly pictures with a sentence or two at most. This book reads a lot more like a free brochure you pick up at a kids fair rather than an $8 book. For what you get I would say this book should be free.

I love this book because it helped my daughter figure out what type of veterinarian she wants to be. She knew she wanted to be a vet, but had no idea how many different jobs there are for vet's. Because of this book she found out she wanted to be a zoologist. I wish it talked about steps to becoming a zoologist. I wanted more about how to become a vet but it didn't. Still a good book granddaughter loved it

very satisfied with my order great book. It's going to our granddaughter for Christmas, can't wait for her to see this book. Thank you, Sue! Want to Be a Veterinarian ...Stephanie Maze I Want to Be a Veterinarian ...

This was a good book I sent on to my granddaughter for information.

good for the younger person who wants to be a vet

Purchased this for our 10 yr old granddaughter who wants to be a veterinarian with a stuffed dog and cat. She loved it!
