100 Treasures From Brussels Museums

Synopsis

An informative compendium to the best artworks in Brussels Covers a vast range: from Magritte to the Iguanodons of Bernissart, from Rembrandt to the giant waterlilies in the botanical garden of Meise The works in this book have been selected because of their historical value, uniqueness, character and state of preservation. The result is 100 treasures that reflect the diversity of Brussels's museums, and the permanent collections that reside within them. For each of the 100 artworks the authors give a description, a context and an anecdote. Themes range widely, from modern and contemporary art, ancient art, history and archaeology, to science, nature, and architecture. This book is a multifaceted aesthetic and scientific experience, and contains something everyone will enjoy.
