Customer Reviews

I've been Living in Cebu - its OK but lacking in details. Might be worth .99 cents - not sure what I paid (I'd have to go look).

It's so lacking in detail, it's practically worthless. This "massive" 26 page guide book has little information and no details. He lets you know how to get a cab from the Cebu airport (Mactan), and lets you know a couple of areas where bars and girls may be found. Mostly, he only mentions things that fit what he likes to do. He does not do any research into anything that might interest a reader, but not him personally. He asked a price of $4.99. He has other 26 page books about other cities at the same $4.99 each, and if you combined 5 of them together, they would not be worth $4.99 combined. One of the laziest writers I've encountered on . When discussing the personality and culture of the Filipino, he seems to do a cut and paste with other of his 26 page books. I guess with a full 26 pages to fill, he has to take some shortcuts. If you're planning your first trip to Cebu, this isn't the guide book for you. You need more details, about how everything works. His advice is not good either. He advises not groping the girls in the bars. He prefers just a friendly stroke on the arm or leg, and give her high-fives. What's the fixation with high-fives? He sure mentions them a lot. I found the girls encourage groping, hoping for a nice tip. Go and have fun, but you don't need anything this basic to guide you. He lives there. You would think he would do a little more research when writing a book.
